TIFFANY VAKILIAN

Last name is pronounced "Vah-kil-yann"

Bestseller. Editor of Bestsellers. Award-Winning speaker.

SHORT BIO

Tiffany Vakilian is an entrepreneur with her Master's (and certification) in Transformative Language Arts and membership with the Editorial Freelancers Association. She is also an award-winning poet and performer committed to helping people use spoken, written, sung, or embodied word-art to facilitate social awareness and connection worldwide. Tiffany became a speaker to help people go from holding their stories inside to confidently sharing polished, published pieces on the global stage. Tiffany is a regular volunteer for various artist-supporting nonprofits throughout San Diego, including the San Diego Professional Editors Network, where she serves as president.

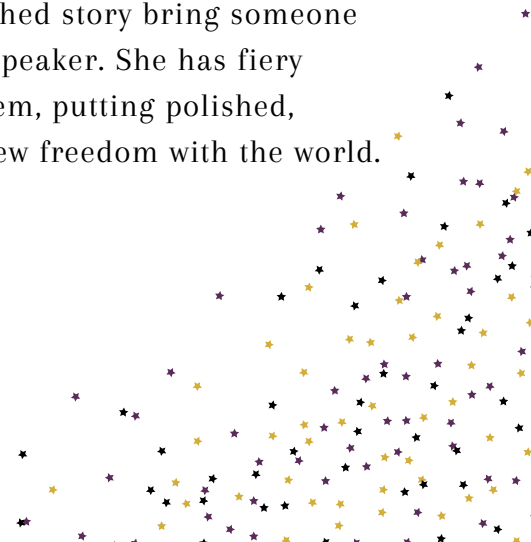

She's the quintessential Renaissance Gal.

FULL BIO

Tiffany Vakilian is an award-winning author, speaker, editor and performer committed to helping fellow artists collaborate for awareness and global connection. She is a freelancer with her Master's (and additional certification) in Transformative Language Arts. Tiffany is also a member of ASCAP, IBPA, The National Forensics League, and the Editorial Freelancers Association.

Tiffany uses her artistic output to give love (and commentary) about the world at varying levels. She is a regular volunteer for various artist-supporting nonprofits throughout San Diego, including the San Diego Professional Editors Network, where she currently serves as president.

"I believe in the power of universal connections available through spoken, written, sung, and embodied word art. You're all in when you've seen a published story bring someone back from the dead." For this reason, Tiffany became a public speaker. She has fiery passion to launch people who feel their story is stuck inside them, putting polished, published proof in their hands and helping them share their new freedom with the world.
